Why choose natural latex mattresses?

The growing consumer interest in products which contribute to sustainable development and which provide an adequate answer to greenhouse gas issues.

A positive energy balance: A recent independent study which determined the ecological footprint of the Latexco products showed that the use of natural latex in the Latexco products significantly improves energy efficiency and CO2 emissions in comparison with other sleeping alternatives.

The unique characteristics of natural latex guarantee durable and high-quality sleeping comfort.

Natural latex is a renewable resource which contributes to sustainable development:

A rubber tree starts yielding rubber after 5 to 7 years and reaches full production capacity after ten to twelve years. A rubber tree can be harvested up to 85 times a year for as long as 20 to 35 years. The global surface of rubber trees, Hevea Brasiliensis, takes up 8 to 9 million hectares. The total biomass of these rubber trees neutralizes approximately 90 million tons of CO2 every year. As a result, a forest of rubber trees has the same purifying capacity (eliminating CO2) as a tropical forest.

Guaranteed quality:

Our natural cores have a balanced micro-climate (temperature- and moisture regulation adjusted to the sleeper), are antibacterial, antifungal and anti-dust mite by nature. There is conclusive evidence that the finished mattresses do not cause allergies. Quality certificates for product security (Öko-Tex Standard 100, Eurolatex Ecolabel), product life cycle (LGA-Certificate), product ecology (Eco-Institute Certificate according to QUL).
